Circleville Man And Wife Killed Sunday In Auto Crash

Fred Newhouse And Wife Die In Smashup

Fractured Necks
Cause Of Deaths;
Other Man Injured

A Circleville couple was killed Sunday afternoon in a two-car crash at Meade, about seven miles south of Circleville.

Killed were Fred Leo Newhouse, 75, of 338 East Main street, for many years custodian for Circleville's Presbyterian church; and his wife, Estella Newhouse, 71.

And seriously injured in the mishap was John Leroy Clark, 40, of Caldwell, driver of the other car. Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff said the accident happened at about 4:10 p. m. Sunday at the intersection of the Meade-Whisler Road and Route 159 in Meade.

Radcliff said no witnesses saw the mishap, but apparently the Newhouse car was travelling East on the Meade-Whisler Road and the Meade-Whisler was travelling south on Route 159.

Radcliff said no witnesses saw the mishap, but apparently the Newhouse car was travelling East on the Meade-Whisler Road and the Meade-Whisler was travelling south on Route 159.

The NEWHOUSE auto was struck almost flush in the left side by the Clark car, Radcliff said. Both cars then crossed the intersection diagonally and ended in a ditch across from the Meade grocery store.

Both Mr. Newhouse and his wife were killed by the sharp impact of the crash. Both suffered fractured necks, resulting in their deaths.

Deputy Radcliff said the husband was dead at the scene of the crash while Mrs. Newhouse was dead upon arrival at Berger hospital.

Clark suffered a lacerated right eye, neck and knees, a fractured jaw and possible rib fractures in the crash. He is reported in good condition in Berger hospital.

Both autos were demolished.

Mr. Newhouse was born Aug. 11, 1881, in Waukesha, son of George and Clara Hoffman Newhouse. He was a member of Knights of Pythias Lodge.

Mrs. Newhouse was born Feb. 22, 1881, in Rantoul, Ill., daughter of John and Edith Ward Holderman. She was a member of Presbyterians.

The COUPLE is survived by a son, Kenneth Newhouse, of Dayton; and one grandchild.

In addition, Mrs. Newhouse is survived by a sister, Mrs. Hazel Riggan, and a brother, Dave Holderman, both of Pueblo, Colo.; and Mr. Newhouse is survived by a half-brother, Paul Newhouse, of Columbus.

Funeral services for the couple will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Presbyterian church with the Rev. Donald Mitchell officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

Friends may call in Mader Funeral Chapel from 2 p. m. Tuesday until noon Wednesday.

Showers Hit Nation, Bring Some Coolness

CHICAGO, June 9.—Thunderstorms and showers hit areas in the eastern half of the nation Monday, ending the season's first spell of hot weather.

Damaging storms which struck wide areas in the Midwest and East Sunday caused at least eight deaths and heavy property damage. Five deaths attributed to wind, electrical and rain storms were reported in Illinois and three in Erie, Pa. Heavy rain hit parts of Illinois, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Monday's storms extended from the lower Great Lakes and Western New York to Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Northern Missouri. Cooler air moved southeastward across the Midwest into the Eastern states. Temperatures were in the 60s and high 80s in most of the continent and Eastern states.

The cooler weather extended over the Upper Great Lakes region, the Upper Mississippi Valley and most of the Missouri Valley. But warm weather continued in the Southern states and along the Atlantic coast.

UN Asking End To Squabbling

SEASIDE, June 9.—The United Nations has urged the South Korean government to halt its political squabbles for 10 days to ease tension the UN said is threatening the republic with chaos.

The UN proposal also suggested that President Syngman Rhee lift martial law from this temporary capital and release 11 national assemblymen held for conspiracy against the government.

POTATO-STARVED CLEVELANDERS were given an opportunity to get a bushel of spuds by enterprising merchant John Lubrinsky. He said he received "a lot of inquiries but not many sales." Meanwhile reports from Washington indicated housewives could expect relief from the shortage soon, and—perhaps—a drop in prices later.

Russian 'Offer' Of Japanese Peace Pact Said Propoganda

TOKYO, June 9.—A report that Russia would repatriate 182,000 Japanese prisoners "if Japan concludes a separate peace treaty with Russia" was written off Monday by the Foreign Office as "just more Soviet propaganda."

The report was received in a message from Hong Kong signed by Mrs. Tomi Kora, a Japanese parliament member who last week signed in Peiping a "people's trade agreement" with Red China.

The Japanese government has termed the pact worthless. The American-educated woman commented:

"THIS IS JUST more Soviet propaganda. The Soviet Union would not hesitate to say it will repatriate a million Japanese if Japan abrogates the U. S.-Japan security pact."

A spokesman for the government repatriation board said the Russian news agency, Tass, on April 22, 1950, reported that only 2,467 World War II Japanese prisoners were held. He added:

"The Japanese government has confirmed a report that 340,585 Japanese have not returned from Russia and Red China. Of the total, 234,151 are believed dead."

The remainder of 106,434 may include more dead people. Mrs. Kora's figure of 182,000 is unthinkable."

Mrs. Kora has said she is proceeding to Moscow before returning home.

Ohio Patrolman
Killed In Mishap

MARTINS FERRY, June 9.—Salvatore (Solly) Moretti, 49-year-old gambler and racketeer of the New York-New Jersey underworld, died Sunday in the state prison hospital as a result of a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was stricken May 6 the day he was to have come up for a parole hearing. Moretti, whose brother Willie was shot to death, was serving a two-to-three year sentence for operating a million dollar dice game.

GOVERNMENT RELAXING HOUSING CREDIT RULES

End To Steel Dispute Seen Within Hours

2-Year Agreement Being Talked By Union, Companies

WASHINGTON, June 9.—An agreement running perhaps two years to mid-1954 appears near in the steel strike.

Negotiators representing the industry and striking CIO Steelworkers Union were reported on the verge of a compromise that would give the workers a boost in wages and other benefits worth about 22 cents an hour per man.

Reflecting the government optimism, President Truman sent a letter to the Senate saying "we may be on the verge" of a settlement. He waged that the Senate take no action in the dispute lest it upset the present bargaining situation.

The Senate promptly put off until Tuesday any further consideration.

A source close to the peace talks guided by the White House said Monday's mid-afternoon meeting of the three-man negotiating teams representing both sides was "likely to be crucial, with a 'yes or no' answer."

This source said Philip Murray, union president, probably will get some form of the union shop, an arrangement under which all the industry's workers would have to pay union dues.

This is the fifth straight day of negotiations which John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman, described as "earnest bargaining." It looked like the parties were determined to reach accord.

A TWO-YEAR contract deal, besides solving the present crisis and restoring vital steel production, would insure peace in the industry for long time to come.

It would be another step in the recent trend of writing long-term labor-management pacts. Most automobile companies are now operating under five-year agreements negotiated in 1950.

An agreement on the basis of a 22-cent package would probably give the workers a 16-cent hourly boost in earnings now averaging close to $2 an hour. The additional five or six cents would be in improved vacation, shift and holiday arrangements.

They opposed a Federal Reserve Board regulation that requires an eight per cent down payment on homes bought with GI loans.

Fred J. Tonemacher of Mansfield was elected commander, a post he has held since last October. At that time he was named to the unexpired term of John L. Smith of Barberon who was elected national commander.

Vice commanders include Dale Kline of Akron, Chester Spicer of Ironton, William D. Kefer of London, Leo Gromnicki of Toledo, Herbert Aikman of Dayton, Fred B. Henthorne of Youngstown, Stuart Fisher of Cincinnati, and Stan Pekarek of Cleveland.

MRS. MARIE Bonham of Mansfield was named president of the women's auxiliary. Vice presidents of the auxiliary include Mrs. Helen Franks of Sandusky, Mrs. Dorothy Burns of Mansfield, Mrs. Dorothy Williams of Hamilton, and Mrs. Mary Belle Cummins of Mansfield.

Next year's convention will be in Akron. There will be a January conference in Mansfield.

MacArthur Talked As Party's Keynoter

4 Weeks Of Wooing Remain Before Big GOP Convention

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The Republican convention arrangements committee opened a two-day session Monday in Chicago with strong support reported developing for selection of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as convention keynoter.

Taft said in a speech in Washington Sunday if he is elected President he will appoint Gen. Douglas MacArthur to a high government post. The former Pacific commander, ousted a year ago by President Truman, supports Taft.

With only four weeks left, Sen.

Russell A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower got down to the button-holing stage in their drives to win the Republican presidential nomination at the national conclave opening in Chicago July 7.

That meant ardent wooing of 341 delegates who hold the balance of power. They are the 130 GOP delegates thus far chosen who are committed to other candidates on the first ballots, and the 211 who are uncommitted or are in dispute.

The latest Associated Press tabulation of GOP delegates listed 462 for Taft and 390 for Eisenhower. Nomination requires 604 votes.

Saturday, the Indiana state GOP convention selected 32 delegates. All were pledged to Taft by the convention, but two announced they did not feel bound by the convention instruction, and would vote for Eisenhower.

That meant ardent wooing of 341 delegates who hold the balance of power. They are the 130 GOP delegates thus far chosen who are committed to other candidates on the first ballots, and the 211 who are uncommitted or are in dispute.

The keynoter's job is to get the convention underway with a rousing party-line speech. He usually serves as temporary chairman.

J. Russell Sprague, New York committee man backing Eisenhower, told reporters the general's camp would be satisfied with "anybody who is not an out-and-out partisan for one particular candidate." He didn't say immediately whether that would exclude MacArthur.

Ralph Cade, Oregon national committee man who is backing Eisenhower, said he opposes MacArthur as keynoter because "I don't think anyone as committed as he is to a candidate should be a keynoter."

MacArthur is reported to have said he would accept the keynoter job, but would not like to preside, even briefly.

The temporary chairman might be called upon to make decisions disputed delegations. In the hot Taft-Eisenhower race, settlement of delegation disputes might make a big difference.

Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, House minority leader who has not been identified with either Eisenhower or Taft appeared to be in line for selection as permanent chairman.

NATIONAL chairman Guy G. Gabrielson and Sen. William Knowland of California, along with Martin and MacArthur, were favored by Taft supporters for key convention posts.

The order applies only to new housing, that is, private residences built since October, 1950, when Regulation X went into effect.

Time limits for paying off mortgage credits were not changed. The maximum period for paying off mortgages on houses costing less than $12,000 remains 25 years; on higher priced properties, 20 years.

The ONLY exception permits veterans to have a longer period if the Veterans Administration finds that a shorter pay-off period would cause hardship.

With home construction booming toward the mark of one million houses this year, a level topped only twice in the past, officials expressed doubt the easier terms would do much to stimulate construction.

The new terms were expected, however, to make it easier for many people to buy and sell houses, especially the more costly ones.

The Federal Reserve Board also granted easier terms to servicemen able to get mortgages guaranteed by the VA. This was in line with provisions of the defense production act granting preferential treatment to veterans.

No down payments will be required on veterans housing costing $25,000 or more and financed with a VA mortgage will be 35 per cent compared with the previous top of 45 per cent.

The easier terms apply to credit on houses for one to four families and apartment houses. No change was made in controls affecting non-residential properties, but the board said such a change is "still under consideration."

For apartment houses containing more than four family units, down payments will now range from 10 to 40 per cent against the previous schedule of 17 to 50 per cent.

Ohio Patrolman Killed In Mishap

MARTINS FERRY, June 9—Patrolman H. D. Grimes, 26, of the Ohio Highway Patrol was killed Sunday when struck by a careening auto near here on Route 7.

Grimes was questioning a motorist when an auto driven by Archie Pugh, 23, of Martins Ferry, left the road and then swerved back to strike the patrolman.

Therefore, he said in a message to the American Jewish fraternal order, the United States has joined with other countries "which share our belief in individual worth as the essential value of Democracy."

"With them," Truman said, "we are building the only kind of security which is real—collective security."

MORE TV

FOR THE THOUSAND or more communities which are now beyond the range of television and for the manufacturers of TV sets, the FCC order which provides for the opening of 2,053 new stations is a boon as great as it has been long-awaited. Soon additional millions of persons will be able to enjoy a modern miracle and a great industry will receive a needed shot in the arm.

In an economic sense, the vast enlargement of the market for TV sets and the consequent expansion of mass production methods should result in an eventual reduction in prices of receivers.

Whether the prospective growth of the TV audience will be followed by an equally great improvement of TV programs remains to be seen. That there is room for initiative and action in this field is obvious. Many of the present entertainers have worn out their welcome. Many others are the victims of tired and unimaginative writers.

In planning for the future the networks and owners of individual stations will do well to remember that a public which would look at anything in the days when the business was new is taking a steadily more critical attitude toward TV programs.

FISH LOSE PRIVACY

NOT MANY fish are in the unhappy state of goldfish in a bowl with no privacy. But fish as a class may be coming to the end of their seclusion.

This is threatened by development in Britain of a video camera enclosed in a casing capable of withstanding pressure 2,000 feet below the surface of the ocean.

These cameras can take pictures suitable for TV broadcasts. Thus the private lives of fish, once TV has progressed a little farther, may be unfolded to the view of most of the human race.

Man has probed about a great deal and learned most of what there is to know about this terrestrial sphere but the depths of the ocean have been mostly a closed book. Now there is the promise of visual exploration far down into the ocean, and from the comfort of a living room chair.

If the cameraman, seeking an interesting broadcast, happens to hit upon one of those long lost treasure ships, will he cut off the view and keep the information to himself?

NATIONAL WHIRLING the news

WASHINGTON, June 9 — Although Ellis Arnall proved himself an able statesman as governor of Georgia, he has succumbed to the disease which has afflicted even more illustrious part-time predecessors at Washington during the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations. Only a few strong men, like Bernard M. Baruch and the ousted Charles E. Wilson, kept themselves immune.

Price Administrator Arnall responds easily to the oppressive atmosphere and partisan pressures of the Capital in a re-election year when Democratic fortunes appear to be shaky. Therefore, he exercises his controls over living costs present and future as a party politician rather than as an economic referee. So did such former price czars as Leon Henderson and Paul A. Porter.

As evidence of the ballot-box importance of this post, it may be significant that neither Roosevelt nor Truman ever gave it to a distinguished, experienced and nonpolitical economic expert. It has always been handed to one of the party faithful.

LARGESSE — Arnall has lifted ceilings on numerous everyday articles, especially food, on the sole ground that they were selling below the federal maxima. He also cites the plenitude of supply and assurances of continued full production.

On the other hand, he has increased prices on foods for certain producers who were making no outcry for such unexpected generosity. He has distributed this largesse at a time when inflationary factors, under Truman's Midas-like touch, may hike the general price structure at any moment.

It is still touch-and-go whether the more serious threat is inflation or deflation, with the odds favoring the latter.

In such a situation, economic authorities agree, it is no time to rock the boat in any direction.

SAFEGUARD — It is true, as Arnall notes, that customer resistance has held a select group of prices at below-ceiling levels, despite White House invitations and incitations for customers to unzipper their wallets. In view of bargain-sale offers and heavy purchasing power, the failure to buy perplexes the politico-economic experts in the Truman Administration.

Nevertheless, this restraint affords no justification for Arnall's lifting of ceiling restrictions. They were established originally to exert a permanent downward pressure on all living costs. Controls were not supposed to be manipulated so as to affect buying habits and tendencies. They were meant to be a safeguard rather than a stimulant.

What Arnall has done is to remove or weaken this psychological influence on producers, retailers and customers. He has given the "buy" sign for a quick upward trend.

CONCERN — Arnall apparently shares Truman's concern that economic stagnation between now and November will jeopardize the Democrats at the ballot box. So, while the White House strives in every way possible to make money plentiful and accessible, through easy borrowing and credit schemes, Arnall manipulates price levels so as to stimulate purchases, production and employment.

In this connection, it is interesting to note that some Democratic politicians are mentioning Arnall as a vice-presidential possibility, especially if his fellow-Georgian, Senator Richard B. Russell, should head a revolt against a Truman nominee and platform.

Arnall is a Roosevelt-Truman "liberal." He has definite and justifiable ambitions, according to his friends, if the Democrats ever conquer their complex against nominating a man from Dixie for the highest offices.

MANEUVERING — Arnall's abolition of ceilings on raw cotton is, perhaps, the surest evidence of his political maneuvering. His staff experts recommended against this action on economic grounds and crop prospects, but he overrode them. He had to do so because he had promised several southern senators to free this key product from controls.

The price administrator had said earlier that he would not reimpose controls, if conditions pointed toward the need for re-warned him, he will have outsmarted himself—and the Truman wing—if his political manipulation of these ceilings results in such a price rise that he will have to reimpose controls before the November voting. And this same thought applies to many other commodities he has freed of price fixing practices for political reasons.

He has given the "buy" sign for a quick upward trend.

CONCERN — Arnall apparent-

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

The broader implications in the Supreme Court's ruling in the Steel Seizure Case will be apparent as the years pass, for this decision has reversed the political trend of the past two decades. It has restored Congressional government; it has returned the President to his proper place in our political system.

As the immediate cause for so revolutionary a decision was a labor case, the effect is liable to be a restoration of direct collective bargaining between management and labor with a decreasing participation by government. Here, also, a trend is being reversed.

Since the organization of the NRA (1933), the tendency in this country has been toward a Fascistic labor relationship, that is, management organized into trade associations, labor organized into national trade unions, with the government as the determining factor. This concept is not unlike Mussolini's syndicates. The Wagner Act and the National Labor Relations Board were the instrumentalities of this congealing arrangement.

The hope of both labor and government was that their procedures would so equalize the political strength of the unions that industry would never be able to use economic power in a conflict with the workers. Roosevelt sought to achieve a balance of power between labor and industry. The planners of this relationship were Sidney Hillman and Lee Pressman.

The Taft-Hartley Act was designed to place upon labor greater social and political responsibility. This act, to be fully effective, needs amendment giving the unions wider authority to discipline their members. For instance, today an anti-Communist union cannot expel a member for criminal subversion; a member can only be disciplined for non-payment of dues. With a few amendments of this character, the Taft-Hartley Act can be made more workable.

However, none of these laws can ever be a substitute in a free economy for direct collective bargaining between management and labor. The present trouble in the steel industry, although it gives the appearance of being over wages and benefits, is really over altogether another question, namely, the distribution of the increased cost of production due to a wage increase.

The conflict here is over the Government's power under the law to control prices. Bernard Baruch in three wars now has called attention to a fundamental economic principle: when the law of supply and demand is abandoned because of a war situation, wages, prices, rents, interest, profits have to be controlled simultaneously and on a strictly non-political basis. This has never been done because Presidents are politicians. The result, particularly during World War II and during the Truman Administration, has been economic chaos.

Mr. Truman has wanted to raise steel wages without raising steel prices, except as provided for in the Capehart amendment. Had the matter been handled by di-

DIET AND HEALTH

Some Diseases May Simulate Disorder Of Thyroid Gland

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MANY times, one disease is mistaken for another because it produces the same symptoms.

However, modern tests and laboratory methods have greatly added to our ability to pick out the right ailment in such cases. We can thus unmask conditions which are similar to thyroid disorders, such as nervous disturbances, for instance.

Real hyperthyroidism is brought about by overactivity of the thyroid gland. It is usually more common in women than in men.

Use More Oxygen

An excess of thyroid hormone in the blood makes the body tissues more active, so that they use up more oxygen. This, in turn, steps up the work done by the body. The general condition is called a high rate of metabolism.

Usually, people with increased thyroid activity are sensitive to heat and need few clothes and little bedding. They prefer cold weather to hot. They may have bulging eyes.

Enlarged Glands

This type of person may also have an enlarged thyroid gland, together with a quick pulse rate and high blood pressure. The active gland can actually speed up his thinking, but can also make him extremely excitable and nervous, and cut down his need for sleep. His hands may shake and, if the trouble is not brought under control, he may develop a heart disease.

A person who shows an elevated metabolism, however, may not really have hyperthyroidism at all. A careful study with the many new diagnostic methods available often gives a clue to the real state of affairs. These methods include radioactive iodine, and chemical tests of the amount of iodine in the blood.

May Simulate Disorder

Diseases of the pituitary and adrenal glands may simulate a thyroid disorder. Many disorders of the blood, such as anemia and leukemia, may also be very similar, and the same is true for far-advanced tumors or tuberculosis. Sometimes the taking of certain drugs also simulates increased thyroid activity.

With present day advances in medical science, the doctor will not rely on the metabolism test alone when diagnosing hyperthyroidism in a patient.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

L.M.: What causes a bone infection?

Answer: An infection of the bone, or osteomyelitis, most commonly occurs in children as a result of the spread of a bacterial infection from the throat to the bone. In adults, the infection usually follows some form of injury to the bone, such as a fracture or a gunshot wound.

NATIONAL WHIRLING news behind the news

WASHINGTON, June 9—Although Ellis Arnall proved himself an able statesman as governor of Georgia, he has succumbed to the disease which has afflicted even more illustrious part-time predecessors at Washington during the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations. Only a few strong men, like Bernard M. Baruch and the ousted Charles E. Wilson, kept themselves immune.

Price Administrator Arnall responds easily to the oppressive atmosphere and partisan pressures of the Capital in a re-election year when Democratic fortunes appear to be shaky. Therefore, he exercises his controls over living costs present and future as a party politician rather than as an economic referee. So did such former price czars as Leon Henderson and Paul A. Porter.

As evidence of the ballot-box importance of this post, it may be significant that neither Roosevelt nor Truman ever gave it to a distinguished, experienced and nonpolitical economic expert. It has always been handed to one of the party faithful.

LARGESSE—Arnall has lifted ceilings on numerous everyday articles, especially food, on the sole ground that they were selling below the federal maxima. He also cites the plenitude of supply and assurances of continued full production.

On the other hand, he has increased prices on foods for certain producers who were making no outcry for such unexpected generosity. He has distributed this largesse at a time when inflationary factors, under Truman's Midas-like touch, may have affected even more illustrious part-time predecessors at Washington.

It is still touch-and-go whether the more serious threat is inflation or deflation, with the odds favoring the latter.

In such a situation, economic authorities agree, it is no time to rock the boat in any direction.

SAFEGUARD—It is true, as Arnall notes, that customer resistance has held a select group of prices at below-ceiling levels, despite White House invitations and inducements for customers to unzipper their wallets. In view of bargain-sale offers and heavy purchasing power, the failure to buy perplexes the politico-economic experts in the Truman Administration.

Industry Has Hopes Lush Business Is Just Around Corner

NEW YORK, June 9—Another industry that has been having its troubles—the industry that clothes the American woman—will test over the next week or so its belief that the worst is over.

Buyers are arriving here for the fall dress openings. Garment makers have been saying they expect the ordering for fall to be notably heavier this time. They hope they aren't just whistling in the dark.

The garment makers figure their industry may be in the same position as the shoe industry. Shoe makers showed their fall lines a few weeks back, picked up handfuls of orders, and put their factories back into full, or nearly full, production again. Their long, private depression was over.

If the dress buyers follow the example of the shoe buyers, the garment district will be humming in the coming weeks. Early arrivals' buyers top the number of last year, and some 10,000 are expected by next week.

PRICES ARE lower this year, since the dress makers have been getting lower-priced fabrics.

The hopeful garment makers base their optimism on much the same things as brought about the revival of shoe business: Lower prices to tempt consumers, high income levels, reduced inventories at the stores.

The entire textile industry has been having a rocky time of it for months. Apparel wool consumption dropped 25 per cent and cotton consumption fell 15 per cent below a year ago levels.

"Hopeful reports come from the textile trade that business may be on the mend," the Northern Trust Co. of Chicago notes in its June business comment.

And it adds these words of encouragement for the merchant:

"Vigorous merchandising and more liberal credit terms, together with a settlement of wage controversies, may stimulate retail sales at profitable prices for, after all, consumer desires are insatiable in the aggregate and are bolstered, in the short run at least, by high employment and incomes."

Immigration to America reached its peak in 1900-1910 when nearly twice the total United States population in 1970 entered the country.

Comic's Comic Henny Youngman So Funny Other Comics Laugh

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Henny Youngman is known along Broadway as a man so funny that even other comedians laugh at him.

This is rare, indeed, as most comedians regard each other in terms of larceny rather than laughter. But this "comic's comic" is different from most of the breed, who are given to private mirth. He not only has spent his life making fun. Fun is his life.

Henny, now 46, is one of the nation's top night club entertainers. Some connoisseurs of the industry say he is the equal of Groucho Marx, Fred Allen, Bob Hope or Milton Berle. He is often a guest star on other shows but has never had a national television show of his own.

"After 20 years of knocking around the country, I'd like to have my own show," he said. "If I don't I guess the only way I'll get rich is through my feet."

He explained he had "radio-active toes." And his theory of gaining wealth through them is "to walk barefoot through Canada until I hit the uranium mine."

Comedians stuck for a sure-fire fast line or a quip often come to Youngman for help. And he always has one handy or makes up one on the spot. He is : walking file case of thousands of jokes, old, middle-aged, and new ones ready to be born.

"I need a lot," he said, "For a six-minute show I have to have 40 good jokes."

The curse of Henny, whose habitat is Times Square, and who goes around it like a polar in a brown coat, is that he gives away jokes as fast as he can think them up.

"Just a minute," he says, stopping a friend, and begins throwing a jest a second, all free.

Ad libbing is so natural with him he can't quit. Naturally he likes to get paid. But he has been known to waste $10,000 worth of fresh material ad libbing while liberty with a few cronies around a restaurant table.

One of the things Henny does to brighten a dull world is to send a weekly gag to a circle of buddies across America.

"Anything to get a laugh, and let people know you're alive," he said.

One week he mailed out dollar bills with a sign saying, "Hold on to this green piece of paper. It may be worth a dollar some day."

From Miami Beach he dispatched perfume bottles full of sand, bearing the label: "This cost me $30 a day to sit on. Thought you might like some." From the Thunderbird Hotel in Las Vegas he mailed pairs of four-inch-square dice "for near-sighted crapshooters."

To be a professional comic today, Henny says, you have "to have nerve and gall, a great memory, and the ability to take stock jokes and give them a twist that makes them sound alive. You have to be equipped to joke on any subject."

Just to test Henny's own staccato wit, I asked him to make a

Third Funeral Being Planned

BURLINGTON, Colo., June 9.—Jim Gernhart, 76, had a repeat performance of his funeral Sunday and promised a third annual service the first Sunday of June next year.

The retired farmer and storekeeper studied the front lawn audience of less than 100 disappointedly and commented:

"My wife cost me a fortune. She went into a department store, broke her leg—and what happened? They gift-wrapped it.

"My wife talks so much that when I got back from Miami her tongue was sunburned. Now she's on a new tack. She colors her hair different every week. She's also got the newest thing in hair-dos—a poodle cut. Makes her look like a new man."

"I just bought my wife a mink outfit—a rifle and a trap. Last week she learned to drive our car. This week she learned how to aim it. Is she careful? She's so careful she only drives in safety zones. When she sticks her hand out the window, it proves only one thing—the window is open."

Henny halted, looked at his watch, and said he was late for a rehearsal of the Milton Berle show. As he left he was still muttering rapid-fire patter:

"My wife read it was good to wash her hair in beer. She tried it. It didn't do her hair any good, but now she has the happiest dandruff in town.

"Ya got enough?"

Teen Tips

Remember the column here recently about learning to dance so you'll have your share of high school fun...and won't miss dates because you can't dance?

Today's mail has brought some good ideas on how to learn to dance if there's no dancing school in your community or no money in your family budget for the lessons. A high school girl writes:

"In our high school, the girls' physical education teacher instructed the boys in dancing and then the girls take over and give them practice during regular practice sessions. We also tell them their faults in dancing.

"The boys enjoy themselves and admit that they really learn more this way. This is only a suggestion, but maybe other schools could do this too."

Another girl comes up with this suggestion:

"The girls' physical education teacher of our high school gives a full hour of dancing instruction to girls and boys in our teen center once a week. Then we have an hour of practice when the boys choose partners first, then the girls choose partners for the next dance, etc.

"Both boys and girls like this, because it gives us a sort of social hour each time, besides the dancing lessons, so we all get better acquainted that way, and it's more fun."

Obituary

OBITUARY
There are times when the all-wise Ruler seems to say "Be Still and Know That I am God." For He who said "The Way, the Truth, and the Life" also said "Thou Will Never Leave Thee nor Forsake Thee."

The subject of this sketch, Mrs. Mary Clark Hayes, was born in Meigs County, Ohio, Nov. 21st, 1878. She was the daughter of Allen and Mary R. Clark.

On April 11th, 1898 she was married to George William Hayes who preceded her in death May 30th, 1945. This union was blessed with five sons and two daughters.

A long illness of nearly five months duration, having undergone all the medical skill and loving hands could do, she departed this life June 3rd 10th, 1952 in the home of her son Allen Gray.

There is left no doubt in the minds of her husband and friends that all was well with her soul, as she shouted, praised and glorified God as she nears the crossing.

Surviving her are five sons: Allen with whom she was living, Ellsworth of Chillicothe, Rt. 6, and Albert, James and Clifford, all of Chillicothe; two daughters Mrs. Ruth Richard Humble of New Haven, Mrs. Gladys Jiveden of Chillicothe, R. 6, a brother Oscar Clark of Elmwood, R. V., a sister Mrs. Emma Smith of Chillicothe; 10 grandchildren, 25 great grandchildren, besides other relatives and friends. "One by one the Lord will call us. And as they as we cross the river, We shall meet them one by one."

Butts Collect Doubleheader, 2-1 And 6-3

Butt softballers of Circleville picked up a twin win Saturday night in Ted Lewis Park, beating George's Cafe of Columbus 2-1 and 6-3.

Stilman Morrison twirled the first victory by allowing only five hits, while Kenny Reid hurled the second win allowing only four safeties.

The Columbus team took the lead in the first test with a single marker following four innings of scoreless play. Butt crewmen, however, posted two markers in the sixth to take the win.

Butt opened the final game with two runs in each of the first three innings, remaining scoreless for the remainder of the encounter as the Columbus team picked up two runs in the fourth and a single in the fifth.

FEATURE of the second engagement was a home run in the first by Bill Ankrom and two homers by Harold Gulick.

The Butt team will travel to Zanesville Tuesday night for a league match. Line scores of Saturday's games follow:

George's 000 010 0-1 5 2
Butt 000 002 x-2 4 2

The railroads had been seized by the Government and held for almost two years. Now that the railroads have been returned, the increase in wages amounts to what the workers could have obtained before they struck.

The steel workers did not anticipate that they would have to undergo the kind of strike they now face. They had put their dependence upon the White House in the hope that a strike could be averted. The Supreme Court decision has nullified the power of the White House to use the weapon of

Strike Pledged

CINCINNATI, June 9.—About 400 union officers representing some 7,000 striking CIO United Steelworkers in the Cincinnati and Dayton areas have pledged a continued walkout "until victory is won" locally and nationally.

Fireman Killed

CLEVELAND, June 9.—A fireman died in flames that wrecked a restaurant in Shaker Heights after July 1, 1952 would never receive less than $20 and could, if entitled to it, receive as much as $80.

At the same time Congress laid down some rules for getting this maximum:

The only ones who can get that much are those 65 or older who quit work after July 1 and fill the other requirements for getting the maximum. The present maximum is about $68.50.

There has been talk around the country that swarms of old people, now working, would quit after July 1. Social security people here say the number will jump for a couple of months and then return to normal.

Officials in charge of the government's manpower program don't expect the increased retirements after July 1 to affect the total manpower picture much.

In CASE you've forgotten the background on these social security pension changes:

Congress increased social security benefits in the fall of 1950 when the minimum pension was $10 a month and the maximum about $45. The increase was to be in two stages:

1. For those on pension or going on pension before July 1, 1952 the minimum was raised to $20 and the maximum to around $68.50.

2. Those going on pension after July 1, 1952 would never receive less than $20 and could, if entitled to it, receive as much as $80.

At the same time Congress laid down some rules for getting this maximum:

If a person worked 18 months in a job covered by social security between Jan. 1, 1951 and July 1, 1952 and his pay was at the rate of $3,600 a year he could, by retiring after July 1, 1952, get $80 a month.

For the self-employed people was a slightly different rule:

To be entitled to the full $80 a month, a self-employed person must keep on working till next Jan. 1.

He could get some pension if he retired before Jan. 1, but not that new maximum of $80.

Experts Say Weeds Have Good Points As Well As Bad

Weeds Protect Soil Against Some Pests

Good And Bad Points Detailed By Experimenters

"Can weeds be made useful?" Many Pickaway County farmers probably have asked themselves that question.

Experts now say weeds have their good points as well as bad.

Considering the weed question in the matter of growing corn, experts say their bad points are as follows, in addition to the fact that it costs money to get rid of them:

Weeds rob corn of nutrients, especially nitrogen; they shade the corn plants when weeds grow too high; they cause a lot of important corn roots to be cut off by cultivation; they pump water out of the soil, robbing the corn plants; and some weeds may take over and get out of control.

These are all solid reasons for clean cultivation, chemical spraying and burning to control weeds.

BUT THERE are many important things which should not be lost by destroying weeds. For instance, they contain organic matter; they are often vigorous feeders and may absorb nutrients that are unavailable to corn; they protect soil from erosion and leaching; some weeds can punch holes into tight subsoil and improve tilth; and they may have some beneficial effects on certain pests, such as nematodes.

With regard to robbing the soil of nutrients, it is profitable to add extra nutrients to overcome what the weeds use. In an experiment, 176 pounds of nitrogen was used per acre, balanced with phosphate and potash to make a 125-bushel corn crop on a very low-fertility soil. It took about 50 pounds of nitrogen to feed the weeds.

Thus, the weeds used $7 worth of nitrogen per acre, but the cost was justified.

To prevent weeds from shading corn, farmers can use starter fertilizers with complete nutrients to get corn off to a fast start.

Some weeds, especially tall ones, are bad robbers of moisture, but where they form a shade over the surface or produce a mulch to cool the soil they may actually help by conserving moisture.

Cutting down on cultivations saves time and money and reduces tractor compacting of the soil.

Motorists Asked To Cut Highway Speed

Check your speed . . . and check accidents!

State Highway Patrolman Bob Greene of Circleville made that appeal today in urging all motorists to cut down on too-fast driving.

Traffic safety efforts this month are being aimed at "speed control," the safety organizations' June traffic safety theme.

Pointing out that "speeders lose," Greene lists seven "safe-speed" reminders for all motorists:

THE REMINDERS are:

Slow down before you get to curves and intersections; At night, drive at the speed which will let you stop within your headlight range; On sand, gravel or wet roads, drive so there is no sway, no sudden braking; In a line of traffic, stay well behind the car ahead (one car length for each 10 miles an hour speed).

Where children are playing, be able to stop in a car length or less; When you're tired or find yourself becoming inattentive, stop; Be on the lookout for railroad crossing signs. When you see one, slow down. Look both ways for approaching trains before you cross the tracks.

"Speeders lose" is the June traffic safety slogan of the state highway patrol and the National Safety Council.

board the newly-recommissioned Navy escort destroyer USS Bache (DDE470). The Bache is now undergoing an extensive anti-submarine warfare training program at Key West, Fla.

Before entering the service, Goldsberry was graduated by Circleville high school, in the class of 1950.
